On this trip, we pick up where we left off Part I of our travels along Victoria's south-east coast. We're heading all the way to the New South Wales border and then swinging back on the Princes Highway. Starting in Port Albert, we do some taste testing at a fish 'n' chip shop that claims to be the best in the state. We then trek through the most beautiful rainforest in the state, Tarra-Bulga National Park. For some R&R, we head to the long stretch of sand at 90 Mile Beach. After visiting Sale and taking a flying lesson with Warbird Adventures, we head due east stopping through Bairnsdale, Lakes Entrance and Orbost. The mouth of the Snowy River is also on our list, and we show you some stunning footage of Mt Kosciuszko where the river originates. Mallecoota is our last stop just before the border. It's a small piece of paradise and well worth a visit. We then head back on the Princes Highway cruising all the way to Melbourne, but we stop and smell the roses, taking the scenic detour tracks and visiting the charming old towns dotted along the way. This is a lovely trip and we hope you enjoy it!
